

Agreement for Services / Informed Consent for Minors

Introduction

This agreement has been created for the purpose of outlining the terms and conditions of services to be provided by HOPE Counseling Center, for the minor child(ren) _____ and is intended to provide [name of parent(s)/legal guardian(s)] _____ with important information regarding the practices and procedures of Counselors working for HOPE Counseling Center, and to clarify the terms of the professional therapeutic relationship between Psychotherapist and Client. Any questions or concerns regarding the contents of this Agreement should be discussed with Psychotherapist prior to signing it.

Policy Regarding Consent for the Treatment of a Minor Child

Psychotherapist generally requires the consent of both parents prior to providing any services to a minor child. If any question exists regarding the authority of the Representative to give consent for psychotherapy, Psychotherapist will require that Representative submit supporting legal documentation, such as a custody order, prior to the commencement of services. The law does provide for any minor 12 years or older that understands therapy to receive services without parental consent

Psychotherapist Background and Qualifications

HOPE Counseling Center employs MFT Interns and MFT Trainees under the supervision of a licensed psychotherapist, and Licensed Marriage and Family Psychotherapists. Your Psychotherapist identifies herself/himself as a Licensed Marriage and Family Psychotherapist.

Process of Therapy

Joining with Clients to communicate, solve problems, and learn to maintain positive interactions by discovering the unproductive interactions and practicing techniques that lead to more fulfillments within. Supporting Clients to transcend, heal, and get beyond old and possibly ineffective patterns of interaction that interfere with fulfilling relationships. Using a variety of invitations to help Clients connect with self and then with others, including dialogue, expressive arts, imagery, along with other experiential modalities. Invite Clients to go beyond just the story and join issues that arise in the moment, keeping the focus on self and taking responsibility for what they can change. Clients can at any time accept or refuse an invitation.

Risks and Benefits of Therapy

A minor Client will benefit most from psychotherapy when his/her parents, guardians, or other caregivers are supportive of the therapeutic process. Psychotherapy is a process in which Psychotherapist and Client, and sometimes other family members, discuss a myriad of issues, events, experiences, and memories for the purpose of creating positive change so Client can experience his/her life more fully. It provides an opportunity to better and more deeply understand oneself, as well as, any problems or difficulties Client may be experiencing.

Psychotherapy is a joint effort between Client and Psychotherapist. Progress and success may vary depending upon the particular problems or issues being addressed, as well as many other factors. Participating in therapy may result in a number of benefits to Client, including, but not limited to, reduced stress and anxiety, a decrease in negative thoughts and self- sabotaging behaviors, improved interpersonal relationships, increased comfort in social, school, and family settings, and increased self-confidence.

Such benefits may also require substantial effort on the part of Client, as well as his/her caregivers and/or family members, including an active participation in the therapeutic process, honesty, and a willingness to change feelings, thoughts and behaviors. There is no guarantee that therapy will yield any or all of the benefits listed above. Participating in therapy may also involve some discomfort, including remembering and discussing unpleasant events, feelings, and experiences. This discomfort may also extend to other family members, as they may be asked to address difficult issues and family dynamics.

The process may evoke strong feelings of sadness, anger, fear, etc. There may be times in which Psychotherapist will challenge the perceptions and assumptions of the Client or other family members, and offer different perspectives. The issues presented by Client may result in unintended outcomes, including changes in personal relationships.

During the therapeutic process, many clients find that they feel worse before they feel better. This is generally a normal course of events. Personal growth and change may be easy and swift at times, but may also be slow and frustrating. Client should address any concerns he/she has regarding his/her progress in therapy with Psychotherapist.

Professional Consultation

Professional consultation is an important component of a healthy psychotherapy practice. Regular participation in clinical, ethical, and legal consultation with appropriate professionals is done on a regular basis. During such consultations, personally identifying information concerning clients will not be shared.

Records and Record Keeping

Psychotherapist may take notes during session, and will also produce other notes and records regarding Client's treatment. These notes constitute Psychotherapist's clinical and business records, which by law Psychotherapist is required to maintain. Such records are the sole property of Psychotherapist. Psychotherapist will not alter his/her normal record keeping process at the request of any client or representative. Should Client or Representative request a copy of Psychotherapist's records, such a request must be made in writing.

Psychotherapist reserves the right, under California law, to provide Client, or Representative, with a treatment summary in lieu of actual records. Psychotherapist also reserves the right to refuse to produce a copy of the record under certain circumstances, but may, as requested, provide a copy of the record to another treating health care provider. Representative will generally have the right to access the records regarding Client. However, this right is subject to certain exceptions set forth in California law. Should Representative request access to Psychotherapist's records, such a request will be responded to in accordance with California law. Psychotherapist will maintain Client's records, once therapy is terminated, for seven years after client turns 18 years old. Client's records will then be destroyed in a manner that preserves Client's confidentiality.

Psychotherapist-Client Privilege

The information disclosed by a client, as well as any records created, is subject to the Psychotherapist-Client privilege. The Psychotherapist-Client privilege results from the special relationship between Psychotherapist and client in the eyes of the law. It is akin to the attorney-client privilege or the doctor-patient privilege. If a subpoena is received for records, deposition testimony, or testimony in a court of law, the clinician will assert the Psychotherapist-Client privilege on client's behalf until instructed, in writing, to do otherwise by client or client's representative. Client should be aware that he/she might be waiving the Psychotherapist-Client privilege if he/she makes his/her mental or emotional state an issue in a legal proceeding. Client should address any concerns he/she might have regarding the Psychotherapist-Client privilege with his/her attorney. Children hold their own privilege and the Psychotherapist will automatically assert privilege on their behalf.

Client Litigation

Psychotherapist will not voluntarily participate in any litigation, or custody dispute in which Client, or Representative, and another individual, or entity, are parties. Psychotherapist has a policy of not communicating with Representative's attorney and will generally not write or sign letters, reports, declarations, or affidavits to be used in Client's, or Representative's, legal matter. Psychotherapist will generally not provide records or testimony unless compelled to do so. Should the Psychotherapist be subpoenaed, or ordered by a court of law, to appear as a witness in an action involving Client, Representative agrees to reimburse Psychotherapist for any time spent for preparation, travel, or other time in which Psychotherapist has made him/herself available for such an appearance at Psychotherapist's usual and customary hourly rate. In addition, Psychotherapist will not make any recommendation as to custody or visitation regarding Client. Psychotherapist will make efforts to be uninvolved in any custody dispute between Client's parents.

Confidentiality

The information disclosed by a Client is generally confidential and will not be released to any third party without written authorization from Client, except where required or permitted by law. Exceptions to confidentiality, include, but are not limited to, reporting child, elder, and dependent adult abuse, when a Client makes a serious threat of violence towards a reasonably identifiable victim, or when a Client is dangerous to him/herself or the person or property of another.

Email

Client is welcome to leave email messages at any time by sending a message directly to your Psychotherapist. If the email requires a response, Psychotherapist will make every effort to respond promptly, but be advised that it may take up to 24 hours. If Client emails during the evening, on a weekend, or over a holiday, Psychotherapist may be unable to respond until the next business day.

While Client is welcome to send Psychotherapist multiple messages, email communication is not meant to take the place of an office visit or psychotherapy session. If Client requests that Psychotherapist read and respond to every email message sent between sessions, Psychotherapist may need to bill Client for that time at the same hourly rate that was agreed upon for office visits.

In case of an emergency, DO NOT use email, but immediately call 911 for emergency response. After that you can leave a phone message for your psychotherapist at (916) 780-1059 in Roseville or (916) 444-2170 in Sacramento, if you're able to do so. You may also call your psychotherapist directly at

Client should be aware that although Psychotherapist takes every precaution to ensure the confidentiality of email messages, there is the possibility that email communications can be intercepted. For this reason, Client should consider carefully whether or not he/she should to communicate via email.

We reserve the right to terminate therapy at our discretion. Reasons for termination include, but are not limited to, untimely payment of fees, failure to comply with treatment recommendations, conflicts of interest, failure to participate in therapy, Client needs are outside of Psychotherapist's scope of competence or practice, or Client is not making adequate progress in therapy. Client has the right to terminate therapy at his/her discretion. Upon either party's decision to terminate therapy, we will generally recommend that Client participate in at least one, or possibly more, termination sessions. These sessions are intended to facilitate a positive termination experience and give both parties an opportunity to reflect on the work that has been done.
